

However, Although, & Despite: Practice Worksheet

Complete the sentences with however, although, or despite.

1. Despite the rain, I'll ride my bike to work.
2. Although it's raining, I'll ride my bike to work.
3. I'll ride my bike to work. However, it's raining.
4. I have a lot of friends; however, I don't see them often.
5. Although I have a lot of friends, I don't see them often.
6. Despite having a lot of friends, I don't see them often.
7. I like big cities, although the traffic is quite annoying!
8. I like big cities despite the traffic!
9. I like big cities. However, traffic is quite annoying.
10. My favorite ice cream flavor is pistachio, although I like chocolate ice cream a lot!
11. My favorite ice cream flavor is pistachio. However, I like chocolate ice cream a lot!
12. My favorite ice cream flavor is pistachio, despite the fact that I like chocolate ice cream a lot!

Turn these “but” sentences into sentences with however, although, and despite.

I want to learn English, but I don’t have a plan.

1. However: I want to learn English. However, I don’t have a plan.
2. Although: I want to learn English, although I don’t have a plan.
3. Despite: Despite not having a plan, I want to learn English.

Many people learn English in school, but it’s often not very fun.

1. However: Many people learn English in school. However, it’s often not very fun.
2. Although: Many people learn English in school, although it’s often not very fun.
3. Despite: Many people learn English in school, despite the fact that it’s often not very fun.

I’m going to the concert, but it’s very expensive.

1. However: I’m going to the concert; however, it’s very expensive.
2. Although: I’m going to the concert, although it’s very expensive.
3. Despite: I’m going to the concert, despite its expensive tickets.

He likes having plants in his apartment, but he’s not very good at growing them!

1. However: He likes having plants in his apartment. He’s not very good at growing them, however!
2. Although: He likes having plants in his apartment, although he’s not very good at growing them!
3. Despite: He likes having plants in his apartment, despite not being very good at growing them!

Peasy
